

Working family carers: someone's listening

Information for people caring for a family member or friend in Kent.

Why we have developed these resources

Carers have told us they want more support to be able to balance their paid employment with their caring responsibilities. We have been collaborating with unpaid carers and local charity, Mending the Gap to raise awareness together - and show that someone's listening.

Someone's Listening

Campaign made possible by Department of Health and Social Care funding.

As a carer, you could be entitled to up to a week's unpaid leave

Do you juggle caring responsibilities while you are working?

The Carers Leave Act 2023 has opened up many more possibilities for carers who are employed.

- The Act covers employees in England, Wales and Scotland.
- Employees are entitled to one week's unpaid leave per year if providing or arranging care for someone with a long-term care need.
- “Long term needs” is defined in the Act as:
  - Anyone with a condition that meets the definition of disability under the Equality Act 2010;
  - Illness or injury (physical or mental) that requires or is likely to require care for more than three months; or
  - Old age.
- This leave can be taken flexibly (in half or full days) for planned and foreseen caring commitments.
- It is available from the first day of employment.
- It provides the same employment protections to employees as other forms of family-related leave, including protection from dismissal.

Working time regulations: Health and Safety Executive (HSE)

Giving employees notice for changing their working hours can help carers to plan ahead so that they can continue to carry out their duties at work in the best way possible.

Checklist for carers: supporting you to be you

If you look after another adult (family member or friend) and think you may be an unpaid carer, there are some important things you need to do to get the support you need:

- 1) Tell your doctor (GP) so that they can log this on your records
- 2) Contact a carer support organisation in Kent
(see 'Help for carers' section below)
- 3) Connect with your community – You can find links to community organisations on our Kent Connect to Support website and directory: kent.connecttosupport.org
- 4) Tell your employer about your caring responsibilities so that you can look at options available to help
- 5) Check what benefits you may be entitled to
- 6) Make sure the person you look after is accessing any funding they are eligible for
- 7) Check that the person you care for has had a care needs assessment
- 8) See if the person you care for could benefit from adaptations in their home or any other useful technology to keep them well and supported
- 9) Ask for support and prioritise your own health and mental wellbeing

More information on all of the above is available on our website.
